Large Rubies from Tanzania and Mozambique

A few months ago we received a call from Arusha, Tanzania. A long time colleague was there to buy Tanzanite. He had been offered some high quality Ruby from Winza, Tanzania and Niassa, Mozambique. Our friend doesn't deal in Ruby, but he knew we would be interested in buying them. We arranged to have the Rubies shipped to us and are offering them in our catalog for the first time. These are among the largest fine quality Ruby we have ever offered. Each displays fine red color. Five of the listed Rubies have gemological reports indicating no treatments. Ruby is the birthstone for July and has been a popular gem throughout history. It has a hardness of 9 and is spectacular in jewelry.

At a gem show, we found a fantastic bargain in carved, natural Jadeite jewelry. The Jadeite petals are semi-translucent to opaque with nice definition. Each flower is carved from a single piece of Jadeite, which is unusual considering the scarcity and demand for the Jadeite. ## GIBEON METEORITE SLICES

Meteorites or “shooting stars” are estimated to have a space age of 4 billion years! Most were offshoots of planetoids which have traveled through space for eons before crashing to the earth’s surface. In 1478 B.C., the first record of a fallen meteorite was made. But it was 1492 when the earliest known observation and recovery of a meteorite took place.

We had a Gibeon meteorite from Namibia, Africa carefully cut into slices which resemble flat tablets of metal. Many pieces show some outer skin of the Meteorite which is 87% iron and 10% nickel with small amounts of graphite, troilite and traversite. The meteorite was believed to have entered the atmosphere at a 30° angle. Its unique crystallization is called the Widmanstätten crystal structure and is the result of compression and cooling in outer space for millions of years as it traveled to Earth. You can actually see the striations of the structure on each side of the meteorite, which is pretty amazing when you contemplate that you are holding a part of the ancient universe in your hand!

CONCAVE CUT BLUE TOPAZ EARRINGS

Gemstone facets which are 3 dimensional or curved are called concave. The facets, usually on the pavilion or backside, are conical shaped 3 dimensional facets. This creates a facet that has depth, length and breadth. Since more light is refracted and returned to the eye, the gem is very brilliant. Our Blue Topaz concave cut ovals are bright and lively in these fourteen karat gold earrings. This is a color that is attractive for most skin tones.

Emerald

An Emerald dealer who had spent two days at the Tucson Gem and Mineral Shows meeting with gem dealers visited us recently in Greenville. He sells only to other dealers, so his prices are the best that are offered since he sells in quantity. We purchased a variety of Emeralds in sizes that are appropriate for mounting in your jewelry designs. Most are in the traditional emerald/octagon shape--a rectangle with clipped corners. This shape allows the full effect of the rich green color to be revealed.

This is a perfect opportunity for you to buy that Emerald that you have always dreamed of owning or of gifting at a 20% discount. Remember that Emerald is the birthstone for May. A member of the Beryl family, Emerald has a Mohs hardness of 7.5 to 8. If you need assistance in selecting an Emerald or a mounting, please contact one of my gemologists, Renee or Jeffrey.
